Analyze Performance & Coach Preparation Clinic

With Ruth Allum & Jill Barker

Monday, October 11th, 2021

9:45 am – 4:30 pm

MacMillan Arena, Nova Scotia Exhibition Grounds, Ryland Ave., Bible Hill, NS

Do you want more preparation for your upcoming evaluation to become a certified English Instructor, Competition Coach or Competition Coach Specialist? Perhaps you are not quite there yet and you would like more information or a chance to see what certification is all about?

This clinic is a great opportunity for those wishing to become certified and for current English Instructors and Coaches to train as Mentors. This clinic is also a valuable learning experience and professional development for those who just want to watch and learn.

The day-long clinic will simulate aspects of the evaluation day certification process, including a brief overview of the evaluation process and a lunging demonstration. The majority of the clinic will focus on the 20-minute lesson topics and analyzing performance – an important coaching skill and a significant component of the NCCP evaluation. The facilitators will provide feedback and guide discussion. Join other coaches in “improving your eye”. The day will close out with a Q&A from the audience.

With assistance from certified evaluators Ruth Allum and Jill Barker, you will gain an understanding of evaluator expectations and the evaluation requirements. Many instructor and coach candidates have reflected that attending this style clinic allowed them to feel more comfortable with the evaluation day as they had a better understanding of expectations.

Are you a certified coach who is mentoring candidates?

This clinic will provide you with current information on the evaluation process so you can focus your candidate's evaluation preparation for success.

Pre-registration is required.

Cost $75.00

Covid-19 Protocols will be in place.
